Chief Scout Executive West of Boy Scouts Chosen By President To Head Committee

Secretary Wilbur has requested Dr. James E. West, Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America, to head a committee to make a study and report to President Hoover White House Conference on Child Health and Protection, their findings on the problems confronting youth outside the home and school. The White House Conference, called for November 19-22, will have as its chairman Dr. Wilbur. The appointment of Dr. West to head this important committee is a tribute to the work done by the Boy Scouts of America under his leadership in influencing the character of boys and training them for citizenship in their leisure hours.

In announcing the committee which will work with him in studying the leisure time activities of youth, Dr. West said that work has already been started and the committee is developing the thesis that what young people do in their spare time largely influences their characters. There is, he declared, so tragic a poverty of "things to do" in the lives of many children that it led President Hoover and Dr. Wilbur to assign to the committee the task of determining just what these limitations are, as a prerequisite to recommendations for action to enrich for youth "the chances to do" nationally and also in local communities.

The committee, Dr. West said, will report to the White House Conference as a part of the section on "Education and Training of Youth." It is concerning itself with boys and girls up to 18 years of age. In every instance the committee members were selected, he said, because they are distinguished experts in their special lines of endeavor. The committee will give consideration to the activities of the leading agencies which carry on work among boys and girls, but the scope of its deliberations will go even further, especially into the influences which are brought to bear upon boys and girls and as to how far these influences are having a helpful effect and where they are of a deleterious nature. A special study will be made of girls and boys in business and of youth of past school age in the industries.

Four sub-committees will consider the various agencies which are deemed to be of first rate importance in their influence upon the lives and conduct of boys and girls. These four include the churches, agencies specifically devoted to boys and girls work and local or neighborhood agencies.

Seven sub-committees have been designated by Dr. West to deal specifically with influences which bear upon boys and girls. One sub-committee will consider the topics of play and safety, another commercialized recreation, a third the motion picture and the theatre, a fourth the influence of radio, a fifth, types and kinds of reading matter, still another, community environment, and lastly, a sub-committee is making a study of camping, an activity of youth which has grown to the size of big business within the past 8 or 10 years.

Three sub-committees have special assignments to study and report findings in relation to boys and girls in the rural communities, to boys and girls in industry and business, and to boys and girls who are inmates of various types of institutions, such as institutions for delinquents, for the mentally deficient and for dependents.

Especially careful effort has been made to select as chairman of the sub-committees outstanding individuals who have distinguished themselves in activities closely related to the task which the committee has before it.

The sub-committees and their chairmen are as follows:

Committee on Churches, Dr. John H. Finley, Associate Editor, New York Times; Committee on Girls' Work, Mrs. Jane Deeter Ripplin, National Director, Girl Scouts, Inc.; Committee on Boys' Work, Mr. William L. Butcher, Executive Secretary, International Boys' Work Council; Committee on Neighborhood Agencies, Mr. Albert J. Kennedy, Secretary, National Federation of Settlements; Committee on Play-Safety, Mr. H. S. Braucher, Secretary, Playground Recreation Association of America; Committee on Commercialized Recreation, Mrs. Henry Moskowitz, former Chairman of Committee on Amusement Resources for Working Girls; Committee on Motion Pictures and Theatres, Mr. Lee F. Colrain Church Has 150th Anniversary

The First Baptist church Rev. John J. Parsons, pastor, celebrated its one hundred and fiftieth anniversary on September 5 and 7. Appropriate ceremonies characterized the observance. Rev. Hugh A. Heath, D. D. general secretary of the Baptist State Mission board, and Rev. A. B. Todd, superintendent for Western Massachusetts, were the speakers. The local pastors presented felicitations. All neighborhood choirs assisted in the music. Deacon Jonathan Davenport prepared and read the following historical sketch:

The form of government adopted by the Puritans of the Massachusetts Bay Colony gave the Puritan church Supreme power. The only book of law was the Bible. All those who held office were pillars of the church. The rules of life laid down by the Puritan Elders were calculated to keep the faithful in the path of righteousness and discourage the ungodly. Everybody was compelled to attend church twice each Sunday. The curfew bell discouraged the sluggard by ringing the bell for rising at 4.30 in the summer time and for retiring at nine o'clock in the evening. The sermons were always very long and if one should fall asleep the tithing man would tickle his ear with a rabbit's tail on the end of a long staff. If he continued to doze he would receive a sharp rap on the head with the rabbit's foot on the other end of the staff. The funds for the support of the church were collected by the officers of the church. The writer of this remembers well the stories told him when a young lad by his grandfather who lived at the time when the office came to take his Master's oxen away by force and the shrewdness that he as a boy used to prevent it. The early records seem to be filled with accounts of Church discipline among both brethren and sisters. In one case where there was a difference between two of the brothers after a long session with five male members sitting in the conference either side not being able to see their error, it was decided to drop the matter and let it be settled at the Day of Judgment. While it was all a very serious matter for our forefathers to dispose of we can see that in many cases it was living up to the letter of the Puritan laws that made the discord.

The following account of the organization of the First Baptist church in Colrain was taken from the early church records:

Colrain, Tuesday 5th of Sept. 1780. A number of persons who have been baptized upon a profession of their faith in Christ met together in order to employ into a Church.

Present for assistance Elder Ebenezer Smith of Ashfield and two Brethren from the same Church on which occasion a sermon was preached from Acts 2-42. Then proceeded to make choice of Elder Smith as moderator. Then upon free and deliberate converse concerning the faith and order of the Gospel, etc., found a number whose hearts and minds appeared to be unitedly agreed and entered into solemn covenant, whose names were as follows: Hezekiah Smith, John Call Oren Smith, Hezekiah Smith, John Nathaniel Smith, David Smith, Abner Atwood, Calvin Smith, Stephen Call, Sarah Pennel, Eunice Smith, Lucy Call, Grace Fox, Kezia Smith, Elizabeth Barrows, Elizabeth Call, Esther Smith, Sarah Pennel, 2nd. Hezekiah Smith was clerk of the meeting.

After the Church was organized it was voted that Hezekiah Smith should attend the association at Athol on the 12th inst., in behalf of this Church at which association this Church was received into their fellowship and became a member thereof.

The first members added to the Church were Joshua Totman and Elizabeth, his wife, who were baptized and joined the Church Oct. 8, 1780.

"At a Church meeting the 3rd of Dec. 1781. Opened by prayer, Elder Smith being present. Then Brother Call was chosen Deacon by unanimous vote of the Church, which choice he accepted. Then voted that we took up the duty of a Deacon to provide the elements for the communion and serve at the table, to take care of the poor of the church, their making their wants known to him. Voted that there be provision for the support of those that have labored with us in the gospel already since the church was embodied. Voted that there be provision made for the support of Elder Smith from the 5th of Sept. 1780 the ensuing year, for his labor among us. Three pounds of wheat four shillings per bushel accounting what has been advanced since the 5th of Sept. last."

The original church meeting house stood on the site of the home of Jesse M. Purinton in the west part of the town. The building was of the style that has nearly gone out of existence, the box pew with a door at the end which was closed when the family were all seated. The pulpit was elevated so the minister could see his audience and the people could see the minister. There was no furnace to be brought up to the right degree of heat but each person saw to their own foot stove which was supplied with coals before leaving home. Electric lights were not in use but a good tin candlestick with its tallow dip hung on the wall. There was an additional building with stalls for the horses on the ground floor and a hall in the second story where good singing was taught and business meetings were held.

The present church building was dedicated in 1848. When it was decided to move from the original location a site was chosen on what is now the land of Roscoe Temple and Bishop, Millbury, Marquand; Mrs. Evelyn B. Parker, The Northfield.

A dinner was given Tuesday night at Marquand Hall to the faculty and addresses of welcome were delivered by President Elliott Spear, Miss Myra B. Wilson, principal and Prof. Frank the lumber was drawn and placed there. People living in the Foundry Village section of the parish were so anxious that it should be built where it now stands that they offered to move the lumber to that place. A method for the raising of funds for the building was by selling of the pews in the church at auction. This plan of making the pews personal property as one that was long lived and lasted for several generations. In 1891 the church built the parsonage so that the pastor could have a permanent home. In 1915 the vestry at the rear of the church was built. Both the parsonage and vestry were built by the cooperation of the people interested. Lumber and labor were donated which made the building possible. Among those from the outside of the community who gave liberally towards the building of the vestry was William H. Russell of Westfield, Mass.

The first and only Missionary sent out by this church was Elder Edward Davenport. The following was what is known as a license to preach.

"The first Baptist church of Colrain to whom it may concern sendeth Christian Salutation. This may certify you that Bro. Edward Davenport is a member of this church in full fellowship and that we fellowship him in public exhortation and prayer. Done by order and in behalf of the Church, Colrain, Nov. 28, 1812.

David Purinton Church Clerk"

The Baptist Missionary Society of Colrain as a Missionary Jan. 3rd, 1820, Massachusetts gave him his commission. His appointment was that he should labor in the destitute places in the neighborhood of Smithfield, Pa., consequently he started on the 28th of August, 1820 on horseback with his equipment in his saddle bags. He traveled west as far as Springfield, Ohio, arriving there Sept. 13th. He kept a diary of each day's doings. While on his missionary tour he happened home Dec. 15.

THE MEMBERSHIP

Beginning with the charter membership of 18 within a month's time the number was increased to twenty. In the year 1841 J. Hodges being minister the number was 149 being the number given in the associational minutes for that year. There were twenty-eight received by baptism that year. It may be interesting to know that the Colrain Second church reported the same year 49 members. In the year 1880 the Centennial of the church the number was 61. The present number is 62. The first mention of a Sunday School is found in the minutes to the association for 1836. A notice was given that the Sunday School Teachers' convention would be held with the Colrain First church sized seventeen people. He returned on the first Wednesday in May, 1837. In the year 1873 the church began to have one sermon a day with an evening meeting. It is recorded in a diary kept at that time that there were ninety persons present on a certain Sunday at both the day and evening service. The report of the committee on slavery at an associational gathering held in 1841 gives us an idea of the questions that had to be dealt with in the days before the Civil war.

The present church officers are: Pastor, John J. Parsons; clerk, Mrs. R. H. Peterson; treasurer, Jonathan E. Davenport; assistant treasurer, Clara F. Purinton; trustees, Nelson H. Purinton, Ralph H. Pearson, Jonathan E. Davenport; board of deacons, George R. Purinton, Jonathan E. Davenport, William B. Call; Supt. of S. S., Clara S. Pierce; president of the Woman's society, Miss Clara S. Pierce; co-chairmen of the Missionary meetings, Mrs. J. E. Davenport and Mrs. J. J. Parsons; chairman of White Cross work, Mrs. Ruth K. Upton.

L. Duley. A communion service followed in Sage chapel conducted by Rev. Francis W. Pattison. President Spear will address the students next Sunday morning in Sage Chapel and the vesper service will be conducted by Rev. Leslie White at 5 o'clock.

The outstanding event Wednesday at the first chapel service at Mount Hermon was the announcement by Principal Henry F. Cutler of a gift of $80,000 by an anonymous donor for remodeling the interior of the chapel.

The chapel will be Gothic in style and conform to the best architectural standards of today. Work is to be undertaken immediately, and the chapel will be completed next June at the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the founding of Mount Hermon school, when 5,000 alumni and friends are expected to return to the Hill. Ralph Harrington Doane of Boston a graduate of Mount Hermon in the class of 1908, is the architect.

Friends of Dwight L. Moody in England and America erected the present chapel in 1898 on a knoll crowning and dominating the campus. D. L. Moody humorously was accustomed to call this spot temptation Hill, for it was to this place he would bring friends whom he wished to interest in the school.

The opening of the 50th year at Mount Hermon is also notable for the beginning of Dr. Cutler's 41st year as principal. He is now dean of headmasters of private secondary schools of Massachusetts. More than 200 new students have already registered, bringing the total enrollment to 515.

To the Editor:

Hon. Wm. M. Butler is the dry candidate for U. S. Senate.

Democrats think him formidable and so we hear that "only a wet Republican Senatorial candidate can go through the Primaries Sept. 16. This is constant in order to drain off Republicans from Mr. Butler to the other and weaker candidate in my opinion.

The dry vote is 60 per cent of the Republican vote. It will never mass behind the wet Senatorial candidate.

It would vote for Hon. Wm. M. Butler who would also attract the business men and those who want experience and judgement.

But in the Conn. Valley I find those who do not sense that this propaganda "will a wet candidate win" means putting in a wet Democrat. E. Tilton.

The Primaries Are Next Tuesday

May I remind my friends and neighbors of Northfield that the Republican Primaries are held in the Town Hall next Tuesday, September 16th from 12 o' to 7. The polls close at 7 and the earlier the voter can come to he polls the more convenient it is for the officials and for those who are trying to get out the vote.

There are several contests this year that are of especial interest. One is the contest between Mr. William Butler and Mr. Eben Draper for the Republican nomination for United States Senator. Another of especial interest to Franklin County is the contest for High Sheriff between Mr. Doane of Northfield and Mr. Haskins of Greenfield. These questions will be settled at the Primaries.

I am running for the Republican nomination for Representative in the General Court from the First Franklin District which includes Northfield. My ideas on the subject of good government are stated in my platform which was published in the Press last week. If there are any further questions that citizens would like to ask I shall be more than pleased to answer them.

The government affects, directly or indirectly, the welfare, happiness and prosperity of every home. It is therefore of vital interest to women. Politics is merely the manner in which the government functions and we may all, therefore, take an interest in politics as an important part of our work as home-makers. I trust that the many friends who have offered me their support will remember to be at the Town Hall next Tuesday as it is the vote that will make that support effective.

I stand for the safety and protection of the home, for the public health and community service, for the best possible education for the children, for the better care and attention to the needs of the old, the sick and the disabled. I stand for all possible attention to the needs of agriculture and development of the countryside of Western Massachusetts. I believe in a square deal for everyone and in a government of the people, by the people and for the people. And I will devote myself whole heartedly to the welfare of Northfield and of the District if elected to this office of trust and responsibility under the government. And I wish to thank all my friends for their enthusiastic support. I hope to see you all at the Primaries, Tuesday, September 16, in the Town Hall.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON OF N. A. A. CLOSES

The Northfield Athletic Association baseball team closed the season with a dinner and social evening at Sunn Inn.

All enjoyed the very fine chicken dinner as well as the musical talents of Polehums and the card games after the dinner.

A good deal of criticism has been given in regards to these affairs, in that previous to this year the funds were taken from the treasury. This year the dinner was paid for entirely from donation of some of the fans given for this purpose alone.

The following are the batting and fielding averages for the season.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Northfield High School opened last week with a large registration, 94 students. Of these, eleven are seniors, 29 Juniors, 12 Sophomores, and 42 Freshman. Two former members of the school, John Plotczyk and Frank Huber returned from other schools to join their classes again.

The Seniors held a class meeting Thursday and elected the following officers:

President, John Plotczyk; Vice-president, Elizabeth Eastman; Secretary, Marion Wells; Treasurer, Catherine Gray.

FIRST PARISH NOTES

The first meeting of the Woman's Alliance for the season was held with Mrs. Jennie M. Foreman in the afternoon of September 5. An interesting address was given by Rev. Margaret B. Barnard, of Greenfield, on her visit in the summer to the National Parks of the far West and to churches on the Pacific coast.

The South church of the town will be reopened for services next Sunday, and both Mr. and Mrs. Conner will speak. In the absence of Mrs. Josephine Webster, the regular organist, who is now in the West Miss Marion Ter will be at the organ and in charge. Webster will be at the organ and in charge of the choir.

to children who have brought in children will be given on the Sunday after the reopening.

"DOANE FOR SHERIFF"

Doane for Sheriff appears to be the slogan of Greenfield. Greenfield residents should be in a position to know whom they want. Mr. Doane has been a resident of that town and has served them long enough so that no question should arise among them regarding his ability. "Doane for Sheriff" is the conclusion of their best thought.

Naturally there is opposition there is in any election. We should, therefore, be on our guard against such procedure as does not appear to ring true regarding Mr. Doane. Personally, I am of the opinion that he has performed his duties faithfully. This is sometimes detrimental in politics, however. We should therefore, do our own reasoning in such matters.

If Greenfield still finds in Mr. Doane what Northfield residents have always acknowledged we should be all the more interested in him because of his association with us in Northfield. With these things in mind, we shall do well to respond to the opportunity of electing one of our old residents to a position of greater responsibility if he so desires it. It is customary and an act of appreciation for any town or city to favor its own sons, all other conditions being equal. There is no issue involved regarding such procedure. It is naturally expected of us and it would look peculiar if we should not do so.

Whatever anyone's personal judgment may be regarding the various candidates for office, this fact should be born in mind. The primaries are the deciding factor so them if you wish Mr. Doane's election, go to the polls next Tuesday, Sept. 16. If you don't you will in all probability stay away. Philip Porter.

Roger Babson, the eminent business statistician predicted in a speech in Omaha Sunday that the midwest is due for a sharp turn for the better this fall. "Conditions in the middle west," said Mr. Babson, "are as bad as they will get. The middle western farmer was the first to feel the recent slump and will be the first to feel the effect of better times." Mr. Babson predicted the present depression as early as May and was severely criticized for his gloomy outlook. Later facts, however, have borne out the statistician's predictions. The improvement in conditions, Mr. Babson believe will extend over the next 20 months.

RADICAL CHANGES
TRANSFORM BANKING

National Commission Sees Changing Opinion on Branch Banking Issue—Studies Group and Chain Banks.

NEW YORK.—Modification of the attitude of bankers on the long disputed branch banking question is forecast in a review and report covering rapid changes going on in banking issued here by the Economic Policy Commission of the American Bankers Association. The report, however, after referring to recent proposals that national banks be given branch banking powers within the business territory surrounding their location, declares that "we do not believe that so-called 'trade-area' branch banking is likely to gain the support of any large percentage of the banking fraternity."

The commission says that the "most important development that has affected American banking in recent years involves the rapid growth of multiple banking organizations in the form of group, chain and branch banking systems," and adds that "we present this report as an unprejudiced economic study and have no theories or policies to urge at this time." The statement says that the commission's information indicates there are now 269 group or chain bank systems, which control 1922 banks and $15,285,000,000 in aggregate resources, and that there are only six states and the District of Columbia where it does not find any group organizations.

The Commission's investigation "We have been in touch with the managers of many important bank groups," the report says. "Aside from the obvious economies of centralized operation and control a number of these organizations heads very frankly tell us that they do not feel that the system has been in operation and tested long enough to justify them in making positive or sweeping statements as to its advantages or disadvantages compared to unit banking."

"The Banking and Currency Committee of the House, which is conducting an investigation into banking developments, has called a number of operating heads of some of the great group systems. These men declared that they found, under certain conditions, definite operating and economic advantage in both group and branch banking over independent unit banking. Some thought group banking was only a transitional stage, that branch banking was preferable and if it were permitted on an extensive enough scale they would change their groups over to branch systems. Others held that group banking was preferable."

"Some held that the ideal plan was a combination of the two with group bank units for localities strong enough to support complete banking institutions and with branch offices extending further into the smaller places requiring banking services but not large enough to support complete banks. Several of these who advocated multiple banking declared that nevertheless they believed there would always be room for vigorous independent unit bank competitors."

Government Officials Express Views
"The Comptroller of the Currency recommended that national banks be given branch banking powers within 'trade-areas.' The Governor of the Federal Reserve Board appeared to be in general agreement with the Comptroller. He said there were 24,645 banks and 3,547 branches, a total of 28,192 banking offices; that in this total, 6,353 offices were either branches or bank members of groups, or both, leaving 21,839 banking institutions that might be definitely termed independent unit banks, having no branches and in no way connected with group affiliations. He said all the banks had total loans and investments of $58,500,000,000, of which the group and branch systems held $30,000,000,000, or more than half."

"He opposed nation-wide branch banking at present but said that ultimately if bankers became trained and experienced in the larger technique of 'trade-area' banking he thought it would in time evolve nation-wide branch banking under control of relatively few banks, but he did not believe this would mean monopoly or lack of competition. He favored branch over group banking which, however, he said represented an economic development along 'trade-area' lines and would spread unless something else were substituted and thought 'trade-area' branch banking would serve this purpose."

"It is the intention of the Commission to develop its own studies in these questions, watch carefully every move that is made and every bit of information that may develop in this connection and keep itself prepared to give an unbiased and accurate statement of the facts of the case whenever that is desired," the report concludes.

Federal Reserve Pays Government
In the fifteen years since its establishment in 1914, aggregate net earnings of the Federal Reserve System's twelve regional banks have amounted to $515,216,000, of which $90,672,000 has been paid to the member banks as dividends, representing 6 per cent annually on their contributions of capital to the reserve banks, while $277,434,000 has been added to the surplus of the reserve banks and $147,110,000 has been paid over to the Federal Government as a franchise tax.

WHAT WE THINK

We have a little gunboat over in China where here is fighting. Someone may upset it with a canoe and that will mean war if!

If we were a Chinaman, we would be a Red.

We are almost a Red here in America. Even the gas is farming.

Going to work the other morning, the editor of the Fredonia Herald heard a young woman yell out the door to her mother working in the garden: "Ma, when y' going to fix my breakfast?"

The best way to stand the heat is to keep busy. Sunday always seems the hottest day in the week because one isn't occupied with something to do.

It is being agitated that the solution to the parking problem will finally be the abolition of the free parking privilege on city streets. If this is done vacant lots will be made into parking stations and a small charge be made. When we come to think of it there is no reason why a few should monopolize all of the parking space on the city streets to the exclusion of a greater number.

JUST a few days ago I had a long talk with a famous painter who has done the portraits of many beautiful women. And it was astonishing to learn how much his art had taught him about care of the skin.

I found, when he began to talk about feminine beauty, that nothing escaped his keen eyes. As he painted, he saw revealed the host of tiny blemishes and little sagging contours that the average person would overlook. Indeed, he knew quite as much about the texture of the skin as any beauty expert.

"Why is it," he declared, "that so many women are satisfied to have complexions like the pigments on oil paintings? When viewed from a distance, their skin seems lovely; but when one observes them more closely it is found to be unpleasantly coarse and rough looking. Only recently I met a charming woman whose friends thought she was beautiful. But when she sat for her portrait, I saw clearly that her skin actually was blotchy—like an oil painting that is viewed in a poor light."

He was right—some women's skins do look like oil paintings! Yet there is no need for any woman to let her skin grow coarse and weather-beaten—and old. If the skin is treated as it should be, its texture will change only a little through the years after twenty. And no one should try to cover up a neglected skin with a heavy layer of powder, when it is so easy to keep the skin lovely with just a few minutes attention daily.

Clarion

PROVES ITSELF

BY EVERY TEST OF TONE and APPEARANCE

Until you hear and see Clarion for yourself, you cannot realize what a sensational new development it is—particularly in clarity and fidelity of tone. That's why we want you to inspect Clarion and submit it to your own tests. We want you to compare it with any other radio made—not merely with any radio in the same price class, but with any other at any price. It will be obvious at once that Clarion is the equal of the most expensive receivers—in tone, in selectivity, in sensitivity, in cabinetwork. It will be just as obvious that Clarion cannot be approached in any of these respects by any radio selling for less than twice its price!

Chatterton, Her Likes and Dislikes

Ruth Chatterton is inclined to be formal when in public.
Her slow smile, when she is pleased, displays the first impression of aloof-ness.

She is very frank and outspoken, and will not hesitate to tell you upon meeting, that she either likes or dislikes you, and why.

She intensely dislikes anything flashy. People who dress or behave in poor taste annoy her.

She works intensely.
During leisure hours she writes plays and composes music.

She discusses critically each new play and all modern fiction.

She loves old classics and her extensive library includes many rare volumes in both French and English.

She attends nearly all the concerts in Hollywood Bowl.

After studying French during a vacation in France, she translated "La Tendresse" into English and later produced it as a play appearing in the starring role at the same time.

She likes close-fitting hats, although she wears both large and small ones, according to her costume.

Disliking colors, she dresses either in black or white.

Although she likes to swim, she would rather lie on the sand.

She usually drives her own sedan.
Her ambition is to be a director.

She dislikes to be photographed.
She is intensely interested in people.

She entertains extensively at her Malibu Beach home during the summer. Her guests are requested to do exactly as they please while visiting her.

She will not permit her home to be photographed, because she feels that it is a part of her private life which she does not care to have publicized.

Her favorite actor is Emil Jan-nings. Gloria Swanson is her ideal actress but she believes that Lois Wilson has the most perfect screen voice.

Determination is her outstanding characteristic. She feels confident that she can accomplish anything she attempts. It was, no doubt, this factor that won her a starring role on the New York stage at the age of 18.

Miss Chatterton appears this week at the Garden.

Lillian Gish in Talking Pictures

"One Romantic Night" the immortal stag classic by Ferenc Molnar which Lillian Gish is translating into the first dialogue picture of her career at the Auditorium Theatre is the story of a young commoner who dares to challenge an aristocrat for the love of a maiden of means.

The romantic love triangle of "One Romantic Night" which many connoisseurs of the theatre declare will live as long as "Camille's" deathless love, is a fertile plot which only he imagination of a Molnar at his best could create.

Unlike "Camille," which is a distinct tragedy, Miss Gish's starring vehicle is a comedy-drama, the love interest of which is emphasized by contrasting it with a sophisticated and humorous counterplot.

The picture is Miss Gish's first serious work in some time and brings the charming screen heroine of "The Birth of a Nation," "Way Down East" and "Broken Blossoms" back in a United Artists' picture worthy of her.

As "Alexandra," the maiden who is forced to choose between a poor tutor and an aristocrat upon whom she is foisted by her mother, the star is seen and heard in the first worldywise role since she became associated with David Wark Griffith.

John W. Considine, Jr., executive head of production at the United Artists Studios, Hollywood, surrounded her with the most important cast of big names announced in years. Rod La Rocque as "Albert," Conrad Nagel as "Dr. Haller," the tutor; Marie Dressler as "Beatrice" and O. P. Heggie as "Father Benedict" constitute the principals in support.

Others cast are Edgar Norton, Billie Bennett, Albert Conti Barbara Leonard, Russ Powell Sam Blum, Philippe de Lacy and Byron Sage. Paul L.

Eben S. Draper Endorsed By Legionaires

Aroused that the Republican party in Massachusetts has never nominated for a major public office a World War veteran who saw active service, and disturbed by recent aspersions to the effect that the veteran's vote carries little or no weight a group of several scores of the most prominent veterans in the State Sept. 3 issued a joint appeal of Hopedale for the Republican nomination in the interests of Eben S. Draper ination for United States Senator.

The appeal, which is signed by Daniel Needham of Newton, carries the names also of seventy veterans from fifty cities and towns, representing every section of the State. It says in part:

"I am wondering if you realize that not a single veteran of the World War who saw active service has ever had a place as a candidate for a major public office on the Republican ticket in Massachusetts? Surely that amazing fact should arouse the fighting blood of every veteran.

"I am also wondering if you have read recently in the public press the aspersions which have appeared with respect to the veteran's vote. The veteran vote has been publicly branded as being unstable, fickle and carrying little or no weight. I resent this—don't you.

"One of our comrades is this year a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator. He is Eben S. Draper of Hopedale. There is not a veteran in Massachusetts who does not know of his exceptional service to his country and his Commonwealth both in time of war and in time of peace—of his tireless efforts on behalf of his comrades, especially the disabled veterans and these less fortunate than he.

"Eben Draper is the one Republican who can be elected to the United States Senate in November. His nomination at the Primaries on September 16 is equivalent to election. We can help put him across. Let's prove that the veteran's vote does mean something and that we are loyal to our own."

Among the names on the appeal are the following:

Gerald O. Albee, Medway; Leslie B. Allen, Mansfield; Hebert A. Baker, Norwood; James C. Berry, Charlestown; Ray P. Bartlett, Winchendon; Daniel Beckford, Jr., Dedham; Oscar C. Hints For Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

FOR the best toast you have ever tasted, lay the slices of bread in the open oven for a few minutes before toasting them. In addition to improving the flavor, it makes the toast more digestible, and it browns much more evenly.

In providing for your family's health during the summer, remember that food beverages are by no means a luxury; that on the contrary they are as healthful as they are delicious. The fruit juices furnish vitamins, the sugar is a much needed source of quick energy, while the beverage as a whole replenishes in the body the liquid lost in the form of perspiration.

VOTE FOR
Arthur M. Haskins

of Greenfield, Mass.

FOR SHERIFF
NEXT TUESDAY, SEPT. 16th

PRESENT DEPUTY SHERIFF, and the only deputy sheriff in Franklin County who has engaged actively and exclusively in the general duties of a deputy sheriff for many years. He has far more active experience than any other deputy.

He is the son of the late Deputy Sheriff, Emmett F. Haskins, who was killed in 1910 while performing his duty in arresting Silas N. Phelps of Monroe Bridge. Father and son have served Franklin County, as deputy sheriffs, for more than thirty years.

Experience and faithful service should merit his nomination as SHERIFF.

Charles Fairhurst, Attorney at law,
15 James St.,

It is only those who do not know how to work that do not love it. To those who do, it is better than play—it is religion.—J. H. Patterson.

The stomach is a slave that must accept everything that is given to it, but which avenges wrong as slyly as does the slave.—Emile Souvestre.

Certain thoughts are prayers. There are moments when, whatever be the attitude of the body, the soul is on its knees.—Victor Hugo.
